Course Flowchart and Course Descriptions

PreKindergarten- Grade 8

The Regulations of the Commissioner of Education Part 100 specify that public school students are to receive instruction in the arts including Visual Arts, Dance, Music and Theater in grades PreK (CR 100.3(a)), and grades one through six (CR 100.3(b)). Additionally, students are to receive one-half unit of study in Music (delivered by a certified Music teacher) across grades seven and eight (CR 100.4).

Music curricula in elementary and middle schools must align to The 2017 New York State Learning Standards for Music for grades K-8 and be cognitively and developmentally appropriate. It is recommended that music courses be taught by a licensed Music Education Teacher grade K-5 and required in grades 6-8.

The following Course Flowcharts are guidance and suggest possible course progressions and do not include all possibilities. Districts should consider the needs of all students when planning arts coursework in addition to ensuring courses are appropriately aligned to the Arts Learning Standards at the appropriate grade level.

Students extend and refine instrumental techniques. These courses are conducted individually or in small groups. Formal and informal performances are included as part of the instructional program.

THEORY

05113 Music Theory

Music Theory courses provide students with an understanding of the fundamentals of music and include one or more of the following topics: melody, harmony, composition, arrangement, analysis, aural development, and sight reading.

05114 AP Music Theory

AP Music Theory courses are designed to be the equivalent of a first music theory college course as specified by the College Board. AP Music Theory develops students' understanding of musical structure and composition procedures. Usually intended for students who already possess performance skills, AP Music Theory courses extend and build upon students' knowledge of intervals, scales, chords, metric/rhythmic patterns, and the ways they interact in a composition. Musical notation, analysis, composition, and aural skills are important components of the course.

05119 Music Composition/Songwriting

Students express themselves through creating music. These courses use conventional notation, and can include instrumental and vocal music. Along with musical instruments and voice, technology may be used for creating, recording, and performing music.

HISTORY/APPRECIATION

05116 Music - Music History/Appreciation

Students develop an understanding of music and its importance in relation to the human experience. Learning experiences include guided listening, analysis, discussion and hands-on experimentation –including informal performance, improvisation, or composition– focused on how various styles of music apply musical elements to create expressive or aesthetic impact.

05117 Music Music History

Students develop an understanding of music, its importance and context in a selected range of historical periods and/or cultural styles. Learning experiences include guided listening, analysis, and discussion, and engage students through hands-on experimentation –possibly informal performance, improvisation, or composition.

05118 Music Music Appreciation

Students develop an understanding of music and its importance in their lives. Learning experiences include guided listening, analysis, discussion and hands-on experimentation –including informal performance, improvisation, or composition– focused on how various styles of music apply musical elements to create expressive or aesthetic impact.

TECHNOLOGY

05149 Music- Recording and Production/Electronic Music

Students learn and apply skills in music recording techniques, music editing, mixing and creating finished music recordings for a variety of purposes. These courses include classroom settings at the school workplace/internship experiences in professional recording studios.

INTERDISCIPLINARY

05115– IB Music

IB Music courses prepare students to take the International Baccalaureate Music exam at either the Subsidiary or Higher level. IB Music courses develop students' knowledge and understanding of music through training in musical skills (listening, performing, and composing); exposure to music theory; and formulation of an historical and global awareness of musical forms and styles. Historical, theoretical, and practical studies are suggested by the IB Curriculum Board.

05201 Music- Interdisciplinary Arts

Students explore communication across arts disciplines and contribute to mastery of standards in each arts discipline. Music and all or any subset of the theater, visual arts, music, dance, and literature may be addressed in the curriculum for these courses. Students study and critique the works of others and participate in or produce music and works in other art forms. These courses include comparative study of various art forms over time (e.g., the interrelationship of theater and visual arts of a particular time period and culture).

05147 Music Music Independent Study

Students focus on a specific area of emphasis within music. Students independently explore specific areas within the study of music. Examples include composition, advanced performance technique and/or coaching, instrument making and professional management. Students expand their expertise in a particular form or style, explore a topic in greater detail, or to develop more advanced skills.

05148- Music- Workplace Experience/Internship

Students work in a music related field. They are matched with a music-related organization or business for a period of time.
